

Mavro's Forms Solution Generates Smart Transactions

Mavro Does It Again ...

"Intelligence is the ability to adapt to change." Stephen Hawking

Indeed, when needs change, industry leaders are quick to recognize new requirements and take swift action to remain ahead of the pack. To that end, throughout its history, Mavro has implemented numerous innovations and market firsts, which are embedded in our MavBridge™ Product Suite. For example, many customers have been thrilled with our Intelligent Check Separation and Smart Batching modules. But a new game changer has arrived, and Mavro is eager to get the word out.

A few newsletters ago, we provided an update on the significant labor improvements that our One-Touch Processing with Smart Batching provides in our advanced forms processing solutions. While this makes a significant impact by delivering very measurable ROIs, transactions still needed to be created during document prep or when scanning in order to maximize the new process. Historically, using separator sheets or other methods are tedious and labor intensive. As Mavro continues developing its industry-leading OCR technology, our team is always on the lookout for inefficiencies and ways to enhance productivity. In this newsletter, we introduce our latest module: Smart Transaction Creation™.

SMART SOLUTIONS

Smart Transaction Creation™ leverages One-Touch Processing on a whole new level. Now, the contents of entire envelopes or complete file folders can be scanned without manual sorting and without the need to insert document separator sheets. MavBridge™ can create transaction boundaries automatically, using special forms classification and intelligently incorporating all your business rules.

A recent deployment of Smart Transaction Creation™ drove a 40% productivity improvement compared to the workflow used before Mavro's solution was delivered. As described by one of our customers, "Unlike our previous solution, with your system, we currently run out of work just about every day!"
